

We must do what they fear -- tell the truth, spread the truth. This is the most powerful weapon against liars. Everyone has this weapon. So make use of it.

Protest at ICE Headquarters 11 AM-1 PM

I want to tell everyone the same thing I shouted when the guards were taking me off to the police truck.

Don't be afraid of anything. This is our country and it's the only one we have. The only thing we should fear is that we will surrender our homeland without a fight, to a gang of liars, thieves, and hypocrites,

My convictions are not exotic, sectarian, or radical:

Those in power should change.

The best way to elect leaders is through honest and free elections.

Everyone needs a fair legal system. Corruption destroys the state. There should be no censorship.

The future lies in these principles.

And, even if it won't be, we'll have the consolation of having lived honest lives..

Everything will be all right.

The crucial source of ideological sabotage that subverted me and turned me into a little dissident was rock and roll music.

If you were to ask me whether I hate Vladimir Putin, my answer would be, yes, I hate him, but not because he tried to kill me. I hate Putin because he has stolen the last twenty years from Russia. We had no enemies. We had peace on all our borders.

Until that day comes, I see my situation not as a heavy burden or a yoke, but simply as the work I need to do.

The more of those people there are, the less each will pay.

Life is constructed such that progress and a better future are achievable only if a certain number of people are prepared to pay for their right to hold beliefs.

Putin could have used these years to turn Russia into a prosperous country. All of us could have lived better. Instead, twenty million people live below the poverty line. Part of the money Putin and his cronies simply stole; part of it was squandered on useless war. They did nothing good for our country, and that is their worst crime.
