

The limits of tyrants are prescribed by the endurance of those whom they oppress. Find out what any people will quietly submit to and you have the exact measure of the injustice and wrong which will be imposed on them.

To make a contented slave, it is necessary to make a thoughtless one. It is necessary to darken his moral and mental vision, and to annihilate the power of reason.

He must be able to detect no inconsistencies in slavery; he must be made to feel that slavery is right. It must not depend upon mere force; the slave must know no Higher Law than his master's will.

We are not to be saved by the crew. at this time, but by the captain. We are not to be saved by Abraham Lincoln, but by you and I and all of us who have this matter in hand.

Power concedes nothing without a demand. It never did and it never will.

Everybody in the South seemed to want the privilege of whipping somebody else.

Of all the slavers, the religious ones are the most cruel and cowardly. We have men-stealers for ministers, women-whippers for missionaries, and cradle-plunderers for church members. The dealers in the bodies of men erect their stand in the presence of the pulpit. The dealer gives his blood-stained gold to support the pulpit, and the pulpit, in return, covers his infernal business with the garb of Christianity. Here we have religion and robbery the allies of each other—devils dressed in angels' robes, and hell presenting the semblance of paradise.

You degrade us, and then ask why we are degraded — you shut our mouths, and then ask why we don't speak — you close your schools and colleges against us, and then ask us why we don't know more!
